

CALL FOR PAPERS

CEEAA2015-McMaster Experiential Engineering Education

May 31 to June 3, 2015
McMaster University, Hamilton, ON

The Canadian Engineering Education Association's Annual Conference (CEEAA2015-McMaster) will be held at McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario from May 31 to June 3, 2015. All areas of engineering education research and practice are invited, but we would like to theme the broader discussion around what experiential education means for our students. This conference offers a unique venue for academics and practitioners to discuss recent trends in engineering education and education research. The conference includes workshops, plenary sessions, and technical sessions.

Papers may be submitted on evidence-based, research-based, and practice-based topics. To help guide the classification we are adopting Boyer's framework whereby the scholarship of teaching may be defined by the union of:

1. Scholarship of discovery
2. Scholarship of application
3. Scholarship of integration

Workshop and panel proposals on the following topics are welcome:

1. Experiential Education for Engineers
2. Education Research Methods
3. Education Research Instrument Design
4. I'm new, where do I begin? (New Member Mentoring)
5. Technology in the classroom
6. CEAB Accreditation

Please forward this call to your colleagues and beyond. We welcome submissions from authors in all education research fields.

The steering committee would like to invite topics including, but not limited to:

- Experiential Education
- Science, Technology, and Mathematics Education
- Assessment of Student Learning
- Learning and Research using Social Media
- Accreditation and Quality Assurance
- Emerging Education Technologies
- Entrepreneurship
- Education Research Methods
- Co-curricular Engagement
- Distance Education
- Integrating Research and Education
- Simulation-based Learning
- Community Engagement
- Multidisciplinary Learning
- Large classrooms, first-year, and new educators
